Extra! Extra! Sophomore Trip!

Sophomores Take on New York City

By Katie Feucht

The Fairless High School Sophomore Class travelled to NYC from Wednesday, April 10th to Friday, April 12th with Travelling Classrooms. Their tour guide was a 1969 graduate of Fairless High School, John Groff. They ate at two iconic restaurants, Puglia's in Little Italy and Dallas BBQ in Times Square. The main attractions on their three day trip included Rockefeller Center, St. Patrick's Cathedral, the National History Museum, Wall Street, the World Trade Center, St. Paul's Church and The Statue of Liberty. They spent the night in New Jersey at the Hilton Meadowlands Hotel in East Rutherford. The highlight of any trip to NYC is a Broadway show, and this year they went to the August Wilson Theatre to see Mean Girls by Tina Fey!

"I liked the Broadway show, Mean Girls because it had some great humor!" said Emma Klick. Her twin sister, Ila Klick, said, "I enjoyed shopping with my friends!" Lucas Cline stated "I liked the hotel room where I hung out with my friends and made Tik Toks, and eating sushi at the restaurant on Ellis Island!" "I bought cheesecake at Juniors and it was REALLY good!" stated

Hannah Bernier. Raelyn Marchand said, "I enjoyed the Top of the Rock and seeing all of New York City!"

Four teacher chaperones took the challenge of being responsible for the memorable trip. Brent Remenaric, the Sophomore Class Adviser, did all the organization for the 64 students. He commented, "This was my fourth year organizing the trip, and my eighth year attending the trip to NYC. I'd say that generally speaking, all of the kids loved the trip. Most kids have never been to a city even close to the size of NYC, and they liked the "hustle and bustle," even though it was stressful at times for some kids. The Broadway musical Mean Girls was a hit among all students, which usually isn't the case for Broadway shows. Usually, most girls like the show along with a few boys. This year, basically everyone loved the show, as it was very relatable and funny. As a chaperone, it was one of my favorite musicals that I've ever seen. It was a pretty tiring trip for everyone, but very enjoyable. I've heard nothing but good feedback about the NYC trip."
